Questions and Answers
about Asbestos and EPA's Investigation

Q: When will I get my soil sampling results?

A: EPA is still sending out soil sampling results. The intent, as stated in the Annual Update Fact Sheet, was for residents to receive their results by the end of July. It now looks like it will be another few weeks before all the results are sent out.

If you had soil samples taken from your yard and have not received results by early September, please call the EPA Information Center at 293-6194.

Sometimes EPA only has the physical property address. If you get your mail at a Post Office Box, rather than at home, please call right away to give us your P.O. Box number. You will get your results more quickly.

Results letters that are not deliverable at the physical address are returned. If you are missing your results we can type in your address and find your results. Then with your P.O. Box number we can print the original letter and mail it out to you.

Analysis of samples other than soil samples is not complete. These sample results will be sent to you in the future. Thank you for your continued patience as we work to get you all the information that is pertinent to your property.
